EDUCATIONAL NOTES

JUDGMENT DEVELOPED BY RESPONSIBILITY, DECISION AND DISCRIMINATION

By Walt. Le Noir Church

Approaching the Glendale Union High School early Monday morning a most interesting sight met the view. The large garden plot was dotted over with busy workers, sowing, planting, cultivating, each on the small section of land allotted to her or to him, the only discrimination as to sex being in numbers—there being only seven girls to the ten boys. But when it comes to net results for the season, accurate statistics will be interesting.

We are indebted to Miss Gladys Goddard and Mr. Everet Bartlett for the names of the class in general science engaged in practical agriculture, and for detailed information regarding their methods and work. From among all the girls in the high school this season, those fortunate enough to be described as "the high gardeners" are Gladys Goddard, Nellie Thorne, Jennie Allen, Anna Feaster, May Kirshman, Lois Mock and Bessie Mock.

The ten boys are Isaiah Sinclair, Ralph Hutchinson, William Goedeker, Phillip Biggs, Stanley Creswell, Neil Marvin, Samuel McKee, Stuart McMillan, Barton Hinckley and Everett Bartlett.

It seems that Senator Randall, said to be always doing something to please his constituents," has been appealed to for seed from the agricultural department at Washington. The gratifying answer was "almost a flower sack full of government seeds."

There were beets and turnips and carrots, radishes and onions and spuds, lettuce and kale and cabbage, "whatever will grow in the mud," as one young enthusiastic digger later informed me.

Their chief interest now is centered in early vegetables, those able to stand a late frost without curling up and jumping the game, as that little modern Adam put it, naively adding: "I hate a quitter, don't you?"

But they have seeds galore, flower seeds of many species and varieties included. So Glendale may expect something particularly attractive along the northwest plains of the high. I wonder if out of that bunch of practical young experimentalists one or more Luther (or Lutherine) Burbanks may not be developed. Who knows in this age of rapid progress and spectacular specialization?

"We began about the second month of the term," said Everett Bartlett. "First we cleared off the weeds, and you know how fast weeds grow in rich Glendale soil. Then the ground was ploughed. Next we spaded it up well, raked and cultivated it till it was in fine condition. Then it was laid off and a special part allotted to each one of us who has the right to plant whatever he or she prefers." (Why will not some high school language expert coin a set of common gender pronouns and merit canonization?)

That responsibility also is good training, developing judgment, decision and discrimination. Naturally, a number will do just what the others do, but there will always be a few who "prefer to do something different." That garden will illustrate many things in the larger business of life.

The teacher, Mr. C. E. Houdyshel, is to be congratulated for the privilege of conducting such an interesting experimental demonstration in the applied science of animated physics, including both planters and plants.

In a later talk with Mr. Houdyshel he said that the facilities for what might be called "orientation" of the pupil just entering school, are greater than ever before. That is, there are more opportunities for "finding one's self," so that less time is lost in selecting that line of study the student is best fitted for by nature, education and choice, which adds much to the probability of success, because the student works with vigor, vim and vril—not largely from a mere sense of duty, and the wholesome fear of the disgrace of failure. But failure may be made "a means of grace" to the real worker who will bravely go at it again, and stay with his job. It is not the most brilliant pupils in school who make the most permanent success in the larger life outside.

Mrs. R. G. Payne of 1423 West Broadway entertained at dinner on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Rawson Brainard of St. Albans, Vt., who are spending the winter at the Hotel Gray.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

MATTISON B. JONES ADDRESSES LARGE AUDIENCE AT P.-T. A. MEETING

At a meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher association in the high school auditorium on Monday night an elaborate patriotic program was given, arranged by Mrs. O. S. Palmer, chairman of patriotism. The stage was decorated with a large American flag, which faced the audience from the back of the stage. Prof. Ferguson presided. Mrs. Chas. Grist, chairman of patriotism, led the salute to the flag. Mrs. Calvin Whiting, who has a rich mezzo-soprano voice, sang "The Linden Tree" by "Schubert and "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling" by Pate. She was accompanied by Mrs. Vivian Webb, and these two beautiful numbers were greatly appreciated. Mattison B. Jones then gave a very eloquent and inspiring address on the subject "Today's Patriotic Call." Mr. Jones traced the history of our country from the time the articles of the confederation were drawn to the present situation. He commended President Wilson on his attitude and the steps he has taken, and spoke of this country as the most patriotic of all the nations and said that the spirit of patriotism was universal in our land, existing in every corner of it, and could always be depended upon. Prof. Lowinsky, the well known teacher of the violin, gave two splendid numbers, "Romance" and "Beethoven's "Minuet." Prof. Lowinsky and Mrs. Lowinsky, his accompanist, are both artists as well as instructors of unusual ability and Glendale may well feel proud to claim such instructors of music. There was a large increase in the membership of the Parent-Teacher association and the meeting adjourned to meet in four weeks at the high school.

MRS. EUDEMILLER RE-ENTERS MILLINERY BUSINESS

Mrs. C. H. Eudemiller, who is exceptionally well known in Southern California as a successful milliner, has decided to open up a first-class up-to-the-minute millinery establishment at 625 S. Hill St., Los Angeles, about Feb. 15th.

Mrs. Eudemiller is well and favorably known in Glendale business circles as she started a small parlor millinery in this city on what was then Sixth street eleven years ago. Her business gradually grew and she established one of the finest suburban shops in this part of the state at 405 S. Brand Blvd., which she most successfully conducted until the business was sold to Mrs. Grace S. Yarbrough a couple months ago.

Mrs. Eudemiller has the best wishes of many friends and former patrons in her new undertaking and will make a full announcement of her opening in the Evening News in the near future.

EVENING NEWS WILL MAKE GOOD

It is the plan of the management of the Evening News to give a very complete report of the Los Angeles County Christian Endeavor convention which will be held in Glendale March 16, 17 and 18. The paper will be enlarged for the Friday and Saturday issues and neither expense nor time will be spared in giving a complete report. If there are citizens of Glendale who have sufficient enterprise to bring a convention with an outside attendance of 3000 delegates together the Evening News will make good in reporting the meetings.

NEW TERM OPEN

The Glendale city schools began a new term yesterday. The opening of the term shows an enrollment of 1369 in the grammar schools, a class of forty-seven having been promoted to the high school last week. The enrollment in the various schools is as follows:

Intermediate school	277
Broadway	196
Colorado Boulevard	207
Columbus Avenue	257
Pacific Avenue	144
Central Avenue	136
Doran Street	57
Total	1274

Kindergartens

Broadway	21
Columbus Avenue	43
Colorado Blvd.	31
Total	1369

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Westerly winds.

GERMANY'S MOVE

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS EXPRESS BELIEF THAT REPLY TO PRESIDENT MAY MEAN WAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Germany's answer to Wilson's note severing relations between the two countries is expected within twenty-four hours. The belief is crystallizing among officials and it will not cause surprise if Germany should declare war now. In the meantime preparations for war are being continued rapidly and so systematically that if America is called upon to fight she can do so immediately and forcefully. The president is exerting every effort to see that no act of America or of American officials can be offensive to any nation.

CONFIRMATION OF AMERICAN'S DEATH

RICHARD WALLACE KILLED WHEN LIFEBOAT IS SHELLED BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Confirmation of the killing of Richard Wallace, an American negro, has been received from Queenstown. The report said Wallace was killed by a submarine that shelled the boat after it had left the steamer Eavestone. The fact that Wallace was employed on a British collier virtually makes him a member of the British navy. The vessel was subject to attack without warning, but there was no excuse for shelling a lifeboat, so further investigation is considered necessary.

FEDERAL BUILDINGS GUARDED

INSTRUCTIONS FROM WASHINGTON CLOSE SAN FRANCISCO MINT TO VISITORS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Extra guards are stationed at the mint, sub-treasury, postoffice, customs house and appraisement building on instructions from Washington. The mint has been closed to visitors.

SPAIN AND SWITZERLAND REMAIN NEUTRAL

WILL PROBABLY NOT FOLLOW SUGGESTION OF PRESIDENT WILSON TO NEUTRAL NATIONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Spain and Switzerland will probably not accede to Wilson's suggestion that neutral nations sever relations with Germany. Their course will likely be based on the fact that they are serving the interests of Germany and the United States while relations between the two countries are broken.

ENGLAND AWAITS DECISION OF U. S.

BRITISH PEOPLE SAY AMERICAN PEOPLE MUST BE DRAWN INTO WAR SOONER OR LATER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Whether America will declare war over the killing of an American sailor is the all-absorbing topic here. The British people say it is a foregone conclusion that the United States will eventually be drawn into the war.

SUBMARINING CONTINUES

THE PICKERING AND THE FLORIDIAN, BRITISH STEAMERS, VICTIMS OF GERMANY'S CAMPAIGN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The British steamers, Pickering and Floridian, are the latest victims of Germany's submarine campaign. Sixteen members of the crew of the Floridian were saved.

TO EQUIP MILITIA

ADJUTANT-GENERAL OF CALIFORNIA GUARD TAKES PRELIMINARY STEPS FOR GREATER EFFICIENCY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—Adjt. General Borree, commander of California militia, to-day notified all company commanders to submit a list of equipment needed by the companies.

BRAZIL TO SEND NOTE TO GERMANY

WILL AWAIT GERMANY'S REPLY TO PROTEST BEFORE CONSIDERING WILSON'S SUGGESTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Brazil has or will send to Germany a formal note protesting against her new submarine program. Brazil is awaiting Germany's reply before considering Wilson's suggestion for all neutrals to break relations with Germany.

SIXTY-ONE YEARS WED

MR. AND MRS. HARTLEY SURPRISED ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Saturday, February 3, was the sixty-first wedding anniversary of David and Amanda Hartley, who live at 240 East Broadway. They are honored members of the Christian church and about 20 or 25 ladies of the church decided to surprise them on this occasion. The old couple were delighted at the visitation and in their homely, old-fashioned way made their guests cordially welcome. Eatables in profusion were taken along and an appetizing dinner was spread, after which a few pleasant hours were whiled away in conversation.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley were married on Feb. 3, 1856. He was then a stalwart young farmer boy of 19 and she a shy little country lass a year younger. It was a cold, raw day, such as February in old Illinois can so easily produce, but with the glow of mutual love and trust in their young hearts they thought nothing of the twenty-mile ride on horseback they had to take just after the wedding to reach their new home. And as the years sped on their mutual love and trust aided by their deep and abiding faith in the master grew and strengthened until now in the late evening of life they are indeed one in thought and purpose. In 1865 the western fever struck them, so packing their goods they started with a company of neighbors and friends across the plains and mountains in covered wagons drawn by mules and oxen. They stopped in the Williamette valley, near Salem, Oregon, where they lived for fourteen years; then went to Klichitat county, Washington, near Goldendale, where they remained till 1911, when they came to Glendale. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Goldendale. Three or four years ago Mr. Hartley was thrown from a wagon and one leg broken. So sturdy was his constitution and so clean had been his living that he made a wonderfully rapid decovery, though nearing his four score years.

The Hartleys have four daughters and two sons living. One daughter is in western Oregon, one in Oregon City, Oregon; one in Yuma, Arizona, and the youngest, Mrs. Current, in Glendale. One son lives in Clarkston, Wash., and the other in Glendale.

All honor to these worthy pioneers and may their remaining years be spent in peace and happiness.—Communicated.

DEATH OF W. K. DOBBINS

William Kennerly Dobbins passed away this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Smith, at 722 North Louise street, at the age of 76 years and 4 months. He was born in Spencer county, Indiana, Oct. 6, 1840. He was a Grand Army veteran and was a member of N. P. Banks Post. He lived at Sawtelle for a time, but came to Glendale from Huntington Beach about nine years ago, residing at 1562 Hawthorne street, until last June when his wife died. Since that time he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Smith, and his health has been failing since the loss of his life's companion. Besides this daughter he leaves to mourn him two sons, H. V. Dobbins of 935 Fairview avenue, and W. D. Dobbins of Seattle, Wash.; a sister, Mrs. H. W. Sharp of Huntington Beach, and a brother in Portland, Oregon. Grandchildren who reside in this vicinity are Clarence O. Smith of 1566 Hawthorne street; Roy K. Smith of Los Angeles; Mrs. C. L. Hare of 508 South Louise street; Miss Ruby Smith of 722 North Louise street, and Donald, Gladys and James Dobbins of 935 Fairview avenue. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock from the Jewel City Undertaking parlors under the auspices of N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R., Rev. C. R. Norton officiating. Interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

DEATH OF ANDREW NICHOLSON

Andrew Nicholson, aged 42 years, who shot himself with suicidal intent at his ranch at Lankershim, died yesterday at the Crocker street hospital in Los Angeles. Mr. Nicholson was subject to epilepsy and was despondent as a consequence of these attacks. He leaves a wife to mourn his death.

Funeral services will be held at the Scovern-Letton-Frey Undertaking parlors Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Johnson of the Swedish Lutheran church of Los Angeles will officiate. Interment at Forest Lawn.

CONVENTION PLANS

MEETS AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO MAKE PRELIMINARY PLANS

The convention committee met at the Christian church Sunday to forward the plans for the great convention of the Los Angeles County Christian Endeavor Union to be held in Glendale, March 16, 17 and 18. The convention committee consists of the chairmen of the different committees who will have the care of the convention. There were 21 in attendance. Miss Forbes of Pasadena was over to give advise and was asked to take charge of the devotionals. President Anderson of the County Union was also present.

Among the matters brought to the attention of the committee were the plans and requirements of the registration committee who will have charge of registering the 3000 delegates who are expected to be in attendance, which alone will be a big job as complete reports of the churches and the denominations as well as the cities from which they come are reported to the convention and records of the number registered will be available at any time during the arrival of the delegates.

Then the entertainment of the delegates will require a great amount of work, especially in advance of the convention, as places will have to be provided for these visitors.

The pages and guides committee will have charge of getting the delegates to the places to which they are assigned.

The location for the big tent is secured on the large corner of Colorado boulevard and Louise street, the tent has been secured and arrangements made for the seating.

MOTOR TO MT. BALDY

A number of Glendale people took advantage of Sunday's warm sunshiny weather and made motor trips to Mt. Baldy, enjoying the combination of sunshine and snow. Mr. and Mrs. John Hunchberger and daughter Virginia, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Gregg and daughter Evelyn, and Miss Marjorie Yarick, made up one party. The outing was planned partly in honor of Miss Virginia's birthday anniversary, which Sunday happened to be. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Toll and four sons made up another party that went up to Mt. Baldy to enjoy the snow. Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase and daughter Shirley and Miss Helen Beach in the Chase machine, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker and son in the Parker machine formed a party and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Westwood took up a party in their machine. The warm sun did not seem to affect the snow, which was very plentiful. There were a great many machines, so many in fact, that passage on the roads in some places was rather difficult.

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS ANNIVERSARY

It is twenty years since the National Congress of Mothers, of which the various Parent-Teacher associations are branches, was formed in Washington, D. C. The gathering was held in response to a call sent out by Mrs. Phoebe Hearst and Mrs. Arthur Birney to consider child welfare. There was a large assemblage of prominent educators and welfare workers, which decided on the formation of the Congress of Mothers, with representative branches in all schools. The anniversary of this important event is being celebrated everywhere throughout the United States. The Glendale Federation will celebrate this twentieth anniversary at the Presbyterian church on Monday, February 19. A very interesting program is being prepared, consisting in the afternoon of a symposium of ideals, which, together with musical numbers will make a very delightful day.

PARLIAMENTARY SECTION

The Parliamentary Law Section of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association will meet at the Pacific Avenue school at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. The drill will be on the main motion, "Resolved, That for the present year the studies of this school be confined to the three R's, reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic." Those present will choose sides like an old time spelling match and each will work against the other with all their knowedge of the subsidiary and privileged motion, and a prize will be given the winning side. Mrs. Harry Greenwalt is the very able and efficient leader of the parliamentary law section.

FLOOD BONDS—IF THEY DO NOT CARRY—WHAT THEN?

In a number of recent issues of this newspaper, we have been setting forth carefully gathered facts as to what will be accomplished in flood control if the $4,450,000 bonds carry at the election on February 20.

We would like to ask you to reverse the situation for a few minutes, and consider what is to happen if the flood control bonds do not carry.

In the first place, no protection can be had for a long time, if ever, if these bonds are defeated, for a project once voted down will remain dead for a considerable period. This is the history of all public improvement bonds.

In the second place, the people will be menaced, not only by flood waters, but by two alternative schemes which will begin a systematic propaganda just as soon as the proposed bond issue is defeated. There will at once be a concerted move on the part of a group of engineers in Los Angeles city to carry out a long campaign for the passing of their original project, which was to have cost $15,000,000, and which was effectually squelched by the board of supervisors. This original plan was the one which among other things called for concrete conduits, cemented both bottom and sides, which was to hurry all the storm-water to the ocean, not allowing any of it to percolate into the ground as a supply for pumping plants.

Instead of adopting the reports of these engineers who wanted to expend $15,000,000 on flood control, the board of supervisors turned them down altogether, and adopted the report of Engineer J. W. Reagan, who offered a practical project for $4,450,000. Now, if the Reagan project should be defeated, the group of old engineers will start a powerful drive to put over their original project.

Then there is the other danger of the special assessment district, which will place the cost against abutting property. There is another group in Los Angeles city that would like to put this over on the rancher, simply because they wish to keep Los Angeles city property from bearing any portion of the expense. Los Angeles city has an assessed valuation of $600,000,000.

Lastly, if the flood bonds do not carry, the great orchard and farming districts are in a more perilous condition than in the past, because little work has been done on washes and rivers. The floods of the future will do more damage than the floods of the past.

The vote of the country districts is almost sufficient to carry these bonds, as they are to pass by a majority vote. Therefore, every vote in the country must be had. It is a critical period in the history of the country districts of Los Angeles county.

A FEW POINTED PARAGRAPHS FROM STATE EDITORS

Live Oak Review—With thousands of laws on the statute books, is it surprising that we poor mortals, crawling about on the earth, should break one once in a while?

Redding Free Press speaking of some departments of the federal government taking delight in persecuting and making it harder to do business, says: "The sooner the people vote the hysterical, vote-seeking politicians out of office the better it will be for everyone."

Redding Free Press—California's hysterical reformers, having regulated every other private interest so it is almost impossible to do business, evidently are determined to retard the growth of their own state.

San Francisco Monitor—In view of the unsavory reputation of reformers of things in general, we would recommend a commission for the inspection of reformers.

Santa Ana Evening Blade—If a bill introduced in the legislature is passed it will be illegal to mount the skin of a bird or animal without being a licensed taxidermist. Then we shall have a State Board of Taxidermist Examiners.

Selma Enterprise—Rep. Melvin Pettit writes: "One thing that amazes me is the number of bills that are being presented and let me say in passing, that sometimes I wonder if some bills are not presented for the sole purpose of impressing the home folks."

Redding Free Press—"Relief Asked for State Debris Board," says a headline. If the people had their say there would be permanent relief from duty for a whole lot more of the state boards.

Redding Free Press, Jan. 20—Judging by the number of bills being introduced in the legislature, members of that body are afflicted with poor memories when it comes to remembering election pledges.

Red Bluff Daily News—Among other legisaltion rushed through Thursday by the assembly was the purchase of a whisk broom for the cloak room.

El Segundo Herald—The American Federation of Labor goes the whole distance in advocating an increase of salaries for government employes. It would include everyone, from the president down. This is generous—as most people are when dealing with other folks' money—and consistent.

Lassen Mail—It is almost too much to expect the legislature to repeal any of the laws that have hampered manufacturing and industrial development.

Beaumont, Calif., Leader—They are attempting to add a year to the life of the Newlands commission, which is studying the railroad situation. One of the reasons for the attempt, and not disguised, is to provide a place for representative Cullop of Indiana, a member of the Commission, who was defeated for re-election. The ingenuity exhibited in devising crutches for "lame ducks," if applied to industry, would revolutionize all our productive pursuits.

Stockton Independent—True to form, the legislators went to Sacramento with their grips filled with bills on every subject and for every cure and regulation that the human mind could think up. Pity the public who must watch for the new laws and shape their course in line with them, and also pity the taxpayers who must pay the bills.

Marin County Tocsin—Brotherhood of Switchmen won their case before Federal Arbitration Board after a hearing of all points. They won a straight eight-hour day with increase for overtime.

STUDIES IN PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

By Walt. Le Noir Church

STUDY XVIII.—ACCURACY

"The way to tell a good egg without breaking it," blandly said the dear old lady, "is to put it into water. If it sinks or swims, I don't remember which, 'tis bad."

Accuracy is an achievement through elimination of errors.

The accurate worker in any desirable line of endeavor is practically certain to be promoted. For accuracy is chief essential to reliability, which leads to success.

A telegram once almost brought on war because the receiver in copying it omitted the little word "not."

A lady and her lover quarreled. She refused to see him again. He wrote a pleading letter, making proper apologies. Then she telegraphed: "You may now come to see me." But, alas, the careless or sleepy or worse telegraph clerk transcribed those words with absolute accuracy, that is, all the words except one. The w was changed to t, with fatal results, and so made that message read to the heart-broken young man: "You may not come to see me."

The tragedy of that inaccuracy was that he went away mad; she stayed at home sad; each married another, and were not happy ever afterward, but by chance discovered how the positive now had become the negative no and caused their woe.

But, bottle your tears and cork up your sympathy. By this time one was a widow, the other a widow-er. This positive and comparative did the right thing, pronto. (Yes, not a bad movie plot.)

It would hardly do for a train dispatcher to make that mistake. He might be the murderer of two express train loads of women and children.

When an examination paper is being written for a teacher, or a quarterly report for the principal, or a sworn statement of essential facts for any superior on whom your position depends, then you realize that it is better to be right than president.

A good position was recently refused a young lady in Glendale because of her persistent habit of making needless errors, needless because she knew better. Anyone will admit that an error by one who knows better is more reprehensible than if committed through ignorance. Her employer had taken the pains before discharging her to go to her teachers and make inquiry about her school record.

Same trouble of inaccuracy there. The papers she handed in were "a perfect fright, a nightmare to me," wailed one young teacher. It seems she had been corrected, and even reprimanded time and again for every teacher liked her and wished her success. But the trouble had become chronic. The case interested me, as a study in the psychology of "receiving, using and giving."

It was found that continued carelessness and inaccuracy of use and expression had finally affected her receptivity to a degree, so she had ceased to receive correct impressions either through sight or hearing. Nature was bringing logical retribution for misuse or failure in use of natural faculties, till those faculties themselves had become abnormal and refused to respond in their normal way.

So what began as a fault culminated into a misfortune, for "good business" demands results, rarely being interested in excuses, or even adequate reasons why "the goods" are not delivered. It is not enough to be careful. You must, to make good, be accurate.

Accuracy is ultimate action, the final expression of all ability, reliability and endurance.

Accuracy is the ultimate objective test of personality—the outward witness of internal worth; the substance of things hoped for in character building, the evidence of things not seen except in action.

Then it may not be going too far to suppose that when the wisest man so wisely advised both youth and age: "With all thy gettings, get understanding," he had in mind the basic truth that the ultimate expression of understanding is accuracy.

Therefore, we may use his wisdom to urge:

With all thy beings, be accurate.

Then will wealth waylay you in the highway, to give, not to take away; and honors will await your coming.

WHY THE GAME WAS LOST

"Say, Captain Head, did you and the boys go to Pomona Saturday?"

"Well, I guess yes."

"Did you win?"

"Well I guess no."

"Why didn't you win,"

"Didn't get enough games."

"Why didn't you get enough games?"

"Say, look here. Excuse me. I am a very tired man and have been since Saturday about 3:30 p. m. Ask the other nine fellows. They know as much about it as I do and are just as deep in the mud as I in the mire."

"How about it, President Blatchley?" "Nothing doing, my official capacity forbids my talking for publication."

"Come, Porter, talk up." "Well, personally I forgot my kick can and you know me, no kick no pitch."

"Pettit, what say you?" "The ground was too soft. My celebrated Kelley slide no good."

"Glen, please take the stand and loosen up." "Being an interested party, my attorney forbids me talking."

"Mr. Burns, please be sworn." "Well, on account of the smudge smoke I couldn't locate the hitching pegs."

"Wightman, you are next." "What, me? I know nothing at all about it. I was not in the game a tall."

"Kid Bruce, stand up. What have you to say?" "Not guilty, your honor. I made 107 points and 53 ringers to my competitor's 86 points and 45 ringers."

"Mr. Longshore, we will hear from you, please." "Well, I think (but can't prove it) that they used movable pegs. My eyesight is good and I used my usual successful delivery, but the shoes and the pegs would not connect, so the pegs must have moved."

"Wright, what was the trouble?" "I can only speak for myself. I suddenly became shoulder bound. So my delivery would fall short or overshoot."

"Smith, have you anything to say?" "Oh, forget it. Also being one of the umpires I had better keep quiet."

So, kind readers, from all available testimony we can get the reasons why the boys didn't win is just as clear as mud. But my opinion is the Pomona Braves violated all international laws and used submarines without due notice. We were already wise to the fact they had a spy in our camp for weeks (Murphy) getting onto the boys' curves, slides, shoots, etc.

The Pomona Braves are a fine lot of gentlemen and in a game are full of points. But I suspect they have a few ringers among them.

Boys, we like you notwithstanding. Come over to Glendale any old time you feel like it and we will try and interest you.

Croy says if the salary was the same he would rather pitch horse shoes than punch tickets for the S. P. R. R., but Croy, what about the eight-hour law? Rather strenuous, I should think.

Keim says he can't pitch, as he has a Charlie Horse in his arm (rheumatics too common), but I think he has a case of cementus (he is a cement worker).

Dod Cornwell, Higley and Noland will engage a small boy to chase their shoes, lost one last week and think possibly it is now in Tropico.

A TROUBLED FAN WHO SAW THE GAME.

Hope is a lazy man's pastime, an active man's strength.

Real Style in a Hat

Is the adaptation of a standard mode to emphasize the personality and charm of the wearer.

Never did a spring bring forth such a galaxy of becoming, bewitching models.

Never did this shop show such a comprehensive assortment of exclusive shapes.

The buying of these hats was a pleasure and the showing of them to our patrons will be a delight.

A most generous portion of these new hats just arrived today and you are cordially invited to inspect them.

Come see them all, from the large undulating brimmed ones to the chic close-fitting turbans, as well as the soft drooping creations made wonderfully attractive by their delicate colorings.

Again, we say, come to this Glendale Millinery shop where you are most welcome, even if you don't make a purchase.

SPEAKS ON MASONIC EDUCATION

Hon. Irving S. Mitchell, chairman of the Masonic educational committee appointed by the Grand Lodge, is going to deliver an address at Masonic Temple this evening on "Masonic Education," following the regular business meeting. Afterwards a banquet will be held. All Masons of the valley should attend this meeting.

STREET PEDDLERS MUST TAKE THEIR BATHS

(By United Press)

LA PLATA, Argentina, Feb. 6.—Periodical baths for street peddlers have been decreed by the La Plata city government. For violation of the rule the penalty is the revocation of the offender's license. To insure that the baths are thorough it is provided that they shall be taken in a municipal establishment under the direction of a sanitary inspector.

DID YOU KNOW

That the Den O' Sweets, 1009 W. Broadway, has reopened and in addition to their own home-made candies made fresh daily, also have a full line of candies made by W. N. Shields, former proprietor of the store. Those who remember his delicious candies please give us a call. 136tf

The doctor's wife had advertised for a girl to do housework and was showing an applicant over the house. She had been very liberal in her promises of privileges and it looked as though the two were going to come to an agreement, when the girl suddenly asked:

"Do you do your own stretchin'?"

"Do we do our own what?" asked the puzzled mistress.

"Stretchin'," repeated the girl. "Do you put all the food on the table and stretch for it, or do I have to shuffle it around?"

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Murphy of Burchett street spent the week end with relatives in Los Angeles.

Carnation Rebekah lodge will hold its regular semi-monthly meeting at Odd Fellows hall tonight.

Mrs. W. D. McRae of 1321 Dryden street went to Imperial Saturday, where she is spending several days.

Dr. J. H. Henry and daughter, Mrs. Wm. Crawford of 916 South Central avenue, spent today at Monte Bello.

Mrs. Will Richardson is the guest of Miss Eulalia Richardson at the Book Section of the Friday Morning club in Los Angeles today.

Mrs. Alfred A. Dove of 1463 Ivy street attended a luncheon given by Miss Nell McIntyre of Westminster avenue, Los Angeles, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron D. Thom of 145 Isabel street and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pearce of 1559 Milford street spent the week end at Santa Barbara.

Mrs. A. M. Beamon of 245 Maryland avenue was taken quite ill on Sunday and has been under the doctor's care, but is improving, we are glad to note.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Corwin, formerly of Glendale, who now reside in Elsinore, spent the week end with their daughters, Mrs. J. G. Dean and Mrs. Harold Scott of 305 North Central avenue.

Mrs. H. E. Adams of Rochester, N. Y., who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Weaver, 235 S. Kenwood, since Christmas, has gone to Long Beach to spend a few weeks. Mrs. Adams will return to Glendale for the spring months.

Miss Margaret Eddelman, who graduated from the Glendale high school a few years ago and has been teaching school in the Antelope valley, is now teaching at Monte Bello. Her Glendale friends will be interested to know that she is now teaching nearer home.

The Philanthropic Sewing club of Glendale held an open meeting Friday at the Congregational church. There was quite a large attendance and much work was accomplished. The next meeting for active members will be held in March at the home of Mrs. Bodi.

Frank Clark, the brother of O. O. Clark of 100 South Louise street, who has been in El Paso, Texas, the past two years, arrived in Los Angeles Friday ill and was taken to the Burbank hospital by Mr. and Mrs. Clark Saturday. He is quite ill with pneumonia and other complications.

The conference of the Christian church of Southern California, held at the First Christian church in Los Angeles Monday, was attended by the following members of the Glendale Christian church: Mrs. Eva Hutton, Mrs. R. M. Jackson, Mrs. T. L. Learned, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, Mrs. Fred Hagin and Mrs. E. L. Berkey.

Mrs. C. W. Ingledue of 725 West Third street, who has been ill for some weeks, is beginning to recuperate and her many friends hope she will soon be well again. She was taken to Pasadena about a week ago where she is being cared for at the home of a friend, Mrs. E. S. Comstock, who was formerly matron at the Glendale sanitarium.

Mrs. John H. Orth of 435 South Central avenue entertained at luncheon to-day for her sister-in-law, Miss Emma Orth of Pittsburgh, Pa., who is visiting here. The fragrant acacia blossoms formed the table decorations. Besides the hostess and the guest of honor, covers were laid for Miss May Ellett, Mrs. Ruth Fry, Mrs. Fannie Coleman, Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. H. W. Rouscup and Mrs. J. W. Graham.

The Parent-Teacher association of the Doran street school will hold their regular meeting at the school Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The program will be a patriotic one and a few of the school children will take part in recitations, dialogues and musical selections. Prof. White will be the speaker, his subject to be "Proposed School Legislation." Refreshments and a social hour will follow the program.

There has been a good deal of sickness and many unfortunate cases in Glendale the past winter, and the philanthropic committees of our organizations which try to do all possible to make the world a more beautiful place for their less fortunate brothers and sisters have been kept unusually busy. Where only a few are putting forth all their strength attempting to right the wrongs of society, feed the hungry and bind the broken-hearted, the task is a very heavy one for those few. Were every one ready to reach out a hand to help those nearest them, the task would be light for all. It seems there should be some combination of forces or a general organization, by which the work could be systematized and done through regular channels, with some one competent person to direct the work and devote their whole time to it.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Valk have returned to their home on Ninth St. after spending several days in San Diego.

The J. O. C. class of the First M. E. church will meet tonight at the home of Miss Grace Case, 111 South Kenwood street. It will be the regular monthly meeting of the class and a good attendance is desired.

Mrs. J. F. Hearnshaw, the membership chairman of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association has the ladies interested in a contest as to who will bring in the most new members to this jolly and beneficial P. T. A. on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Keppler, Mrs. Mabel Hutchings and Mrs. Louise Purnell took a hiking trip up Mt. Wilson Sunday, going up as far as the Half-Way house. They took lunch with them and enjoyed a pleasant, if strenuous day.

The Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Temple, 301 Orange street, Monday when the study of "The Tempest" was taken up. A number of visitors were in attendance besides the members and a very interesting and profitable afternoon was spent.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the Pacific Avenue school will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday, February 8. The association will be honored by a visit from Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, who will be the speaker of the afternoon, and Mrs. Zetta Gibbons will sing. It is desired to have a large attendance and everybody is urged to come and enjoy the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzo Williams of 1325 North Central avenue are concerned regarding the safety of Mr. Williams' sister, Miss Emma Williams, who is in Swartzwold, Germany. They have been getting in touch with the revenue office to get in touch with the secretary of state to have Mr. Gerard notified to look up Miss Williams. Miss Williams went to Germany about six years ago with the family of Herman Scheuster, a retired diplomat, being a close friend of his daughters, and has remained as their guest since. Miss Williams is personally acquainted with Mr. Gerard and it is hoped that she will find a safe passage home.

A MEETING OF INTEREST

The World's W. C. T. U., or what the Women's Christian Temperance Union is doing in foreign lands was the subject of a very interesting program at the regular meeting of the city union in the home of Mrs. Jennie Mottern, 340 S. Central avenue, Friday afternoon, Feb. 2d. A large number were present, all taking some part in the fine program prepared and led by Mrs. T. A. Wright. A noticeable part of the decorations was a banner containing the flags of all nations, tied with the bow of white ribbon. Interesting reports showing the conditions caused by drink and the success of W. C. T. U. work in many of the forty nations where the organization is at work were received with interest and enthusiasm. Eighteen white ribbon missionaries have been sent, among whom were Mrs. Clara Parrish Wright and Mrs. Kara Smart Root, both now of Glendale. The first one to blaze the trail in 1887 was Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt of Boston, Mass. She was gone eight years, traveled 200,000 miles, crossed the equator thirteen times, spoke through an interpreter in 147 dialects and organized and sowed temperance seed in many places. There have been eleven world's conventions held, the last triennial was to have been held in the United States, but on account of the European war it was postponed till the war shall close. Rosalind, countess of Carlisle, England, remains president.

The Gillett bill, now pending in congress, against shipping rum and other intoxicants to Africa, where three die every minute from the deadly stuff, was endorsed and the petition to congress and president signed. Also a mediation petition for peace from the American Neutral conference was signed. A group of young campaigners under direction of Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Marton, were highly entertaining in native costume as they gave the thought and desire of the children of various lands relative to the curse that rests so heavily on childhood in all countries. Another package of clothing was donated for destitute babies and some charity sewing done. The next meeting, Feb. 16, will be in commemoration of Frances E. Willard, at the home of Mrs. A. Frank, 1472 W. 2nd St.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

The Boy Scouts of Glendale are preparing to celebrate the seventh anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America. All scouts are requested to meet at Scout headquarters, Third street and Brand boulevard, at 7:30 p. m. sharp Thursday evening. A short business meeting will be held after which the boys will drill. At 8:15 sharp a hollow square will be formed at the corner of Broadway and Brand and the scout oath will be repeated after which the troops will disband. The public is requested to watch for the boys on Thursday.

JACK JENKINS.

THE HOMELIKE CHURCH

Sunday was a great day with us. A capacity crowd greeted the morning service and a stirring sermon on the "Priority of the Missionary Claim." It was not a string of statistics, but a resume of facts from God's word and from the speaker's own experiences. He demonstrated to all that the church which puts missions and the kingdom first was sure to prosper.

In the evening the crowd was not so large, but the sermon was equally as good. "The Heritage of the Christian" was shown to be "love, joy and peace in this world and never-ending happiness in the next." These things are promised again and again in God's word. The music, under the experienced management of Mrs. John Cole and with the enthusiastic help given by the members of the choir, is becoming a feature of the services. Come out to the "home-like" church Sunday morning and evening and on Wednesday evening. You are always sure of a cordial welcome and delightful fellowship.

RELIEF AT LAST

As practically everyone knows, there has been, and is still, a great shortage of freight cars. This item has caused the Pacific Coast merchants a great deal of trouble, and A. Meyer Co., the local Overland and Willys-Knight distributors, have been one of the many sufferers. Until recently it was practically an impossibility for them to obtain automobiles enough to satisfy the demand, but during the last week or so they delivered four cars to the following people:

Mrs. C. A. Minter, 1434 W. Fifth street.

Mrs. L. N. Ruddy, La Crescenta.

Mrs. H. Brinkoff, 1445 W. Second street.

Mr. J. K. Hill, The Valley Supply Co.

A. Meyer Co. are very pleased to announce that there are several carloads of "Overlands" now en route to them, and they hope to be able to make immediate deliveries on practically all models in the near future.

NEW THOUGHT CENTER

Dr. Frank Riley gave the lecture on Crucifixion with New Thought interpretations at the center Sunday evening. He said in part: Work out your salvation amidst instead of with fear and trembling. Get a true and close concept of God. "God is spirit." Not a spirit. The Bible is a wonderful book, if you do not interpret it from a too literal sense. There are many Bibles and they all teach the same truth from a spiritual standpoint. Mohammed called us infidels and we Mohammedans heathen and yet we are all children of the same divine father. The speaker said the five wounds in the body of Jesus symbolized the five senses in the physical man. The crucifying of the flesh and blood man Jesus, the putting off of the old man Adam did not mean to destroy the physical man, but to transmute the physical into finer qualities of substance that the real man might come forth and demonstrate the divine purpose in the physical temple. The atonement meant to be at-one-ment with the father-mother God through conscious birth or union with the Christ spirit. We realize our at-one-ment with the father, divine wisdom, and the mother, divine love.

CERTAINTIES

Sunday at the 11 o'clock service, Rev. C. A. Norcross, pastor of the West Glendale Methodist church, preached a powerful sermon to a crowded house.

The text was found in the first chapter of 1 Peter, the 22d and 23d verses: "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently: Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever."

In another place in the good book Paul tells of the fruits of the spirit, meekness, joy, long suffering, etc. While Peter tells us of the fruits of salvation, the inheritance of the saints. This has been made possible to all. A hope of the life to come, a Godly fear, a love which passeth all understanding.

A most salient fact brought out in the discussion was this: Peter dealt with certainties, solid facts that could be proven beyond a doubt.

1. New birth. Being born again is a cardinal fact. Upon this foundation the structure is built. We can build upon nothing but the truth if we expect the structure to endure. Through the divinity of the Son of God a foundation as lasting as time itself is set up. Only eternity, ultimately proves all things of a questionable character. Down through the ages our Mighty Ruler comes offering salvation to all mankind.

2. New brotherhood. This is but the development of the children of God. A group of people loving one another fervently and from a pure heart. Love is of God. The brotherhood idea is growing wonderfully throughout the world.

Pleasure and Duty are a hard pair to drive in double harness.

HELPING THE MIDGET

Mickey O'Doolan was a noble-minded lad, full of sympathy for the poor, always ready to succor the oppressed, keen to right the wrongs of the world. One day, passing a stone-mason's yard he saw two men sawing through a large block of stone with one of those large, double-handled saws. One of them was six-foot-two, the other a little chap of four-foot-one.

Leaning against the wall, Mickey watched them swaying back and forth for a few minutes; then he rushed forward and bealt the tall man a blow on the side of the head, knocking him senseless.

"Now," he exclaimed as he stood over the prostrate form, "now will ye let the little chap have it, yez dirty hulking bully?"—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

FREDERICK THE GREAT

Frederick the Great looked with serene indifference on all that his enemies might say of him. One day as he rode through Berlin he saw a crowd of people staring up at something on the wall and on sending his groom to inquire what it was found it to be a carticure of himself. The placard was so high that it was difficult to read it, so Frederick ordered it to be placed lower in order that the people might not have to stretch their necks. The words were hardly spoken when, with a joyous shout, the placard was pulled down and torn into a thousand pieces, while a hearty cheer followed the king as he rode away.

"CONVERSATION

"A country without conversation," was a philosopher's word picture of America, painted for Rupert Brooke when that fiery young poet set out on his world travels, something more than two years since. And that is a pretty comprehensive damnation of us and our civilization, if we accept Samuel Johnson's dictum that "The ends of education are three—to develop the moral nature, to train the judgment and to furnish material for conversation." President Lowell, for his part, confesses that the reason "so large a part of general conversation in America relates to the weather, to politics and to sports is not so much because these things are intrinsically more interesting or valuable than in other countries, as because they are among the few subjects that every one is familiar with and can talk about."—Rene Kelly in the Dial.

DEFERRED KINDNESS

Let the moral the following quotation points sink deep into your mind: "I am rather tired of seeing all the flowers at weddings and funerals. We need a few in between. Maybe a few flowers put into the hand when it is warm instead of ice cold might have kept the hand warm a little longer. Anyway, it would have made the heart that has ceased to beat a little lighter."

POLITE BUT FIRM

Mrs. N. was giving instructions to her new servant: "Before removing the soup plates, Mary, always ask each person if he or she would like any more."

"Very good, madam."

Next day Mary, respectfully bowing to one of the guests, inquired:

"Would the gentleman like some more soup?"

"Yes, please."

"There ain't any left."

UNBELIEVABLE

Uncle Ezra—"That fellow who stays at that little round house on the top of the hill has written a book about Mars."

Uncle Eben—"I'll bet its a fake. What does he know about them foreign countries? He ain't been out of town in several years."—Puck.

RECEIVED A WELCOME

The man in the next flat was pounding on the wall.

"Look, here," he cried, "I can't sleep with your kid yelling like that. If you don't make him stop I will."

"Come in, sir, come right in!" said the kid's father. "You'll be as welcome as the flowers in spring."

The lady of a good family was showing her ancestral home to her small son. She pointed with special pride to the bust of her father.

"And that, Bobbie," she said, "is your grandfather."

Bobbie looked somewhat perplexed.

Is that all there was of him?" he asked.

If there is anywhere on your horizon a spot of light, fix your eye upon it and turn your thoughts away from the clouds which may cover the rest of the sky.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away. And what will you do doctor, when your business is gone?"

"Guess I'll hedge," replied the unperturbed medico. "Just invest in orchards."

Don't place too much faith in the early bird. Maybe he has been up all night.

NOVEL SCHOOL VENTILATION SCHEME

W. A. Conrad, superintendent Coloma, Michigan, schools, says with regard to school ventilation:

At this time when so much is being said and written with the purpose of awakening the public to a realization of the importance of fresh air in the school room as a defense against tuberculosis, it may be worth while to tell how we do it in our schools in Coloma, Michigan. Our building is steam-heated and did not have sufficient ventilation without the use of open windows with its attending drafts. Our problem was to secure a change of air without the drafts. We took our hint from the burlap ventilators on poultry houses. Our pupils have the same right to good air as the fowls, so we acted accordingly. We had our janitor get some strip lumber such as is used in making window screens. Out of this he made frames to fit the upper half of the school room window and covered them with a high grade of common muslin securely tacked. These were fastened outside the upper sash just as an ordinary wire screen would be.

In the morning after the rooms are warmed the upper sash can be lowered and an interchange of air takes place without the detrimental drafts. Neither snow nor rain have caused any difficulty so far.

Last spring we were visited by a Red Cross nurse who was at that time touring the country investigating the sanitary conditions of the schools. She was profuse in her praise of the fresh, wholesome air condition of the school-room and of the alert, rosy-cheeked student body resulting therefrom.

COULD FIGURE A BIT

An officer who superintended the receipt of stores needed a clerk, and told the sergeant major to hunt up one. The sergeant eventually singled out a sober looking private and took him to the officer.

"Are youa clerk?" demanded the captain.

"No, sir," replied the man.

"Do you know anything about figures?"

"I can do a bit," answered the man modestly.

"A bit!" snarled the officer. "Is this the best man you could find?" said he to the sergeant major.

"Yes, sir."

"Well," growled the captain, "I suppose I'll have to put up with him."

Turning to the private he snapped, "What were you in civilian life?"

"Professor of mathematics at —— college, sir!" was the reply.—The Tatler.

OVERPOWERED

"Are you sure you are strong enough to carry this trunk up three flights of stairs?" asked the maiden lady of the roustabout she had summoned.

"Sure, mum," he responded heartily. "How much do I get out of it?"

"Why, if you don't break anything or spoil the walls I'll give you ten cents."

"Sorry, mum, but I couldn't git away wid dat heavy trunk."

"Why, a minute ago you were sure you were strong enough."

"I was, but yer generosity has made me weak."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

REVERSED

A little girl visited a playmate whose family did its own housework. She had a very good time and on returning home told her mother all about it.

"But," she said, "they do one dreadful thing. I hate to tell you, mother, for it's kind of cruel, and you might not let me go again."

"What is it, child?" ased the mother in alarm.

"They use their own grandmother for a cook."—Country Gentleman.

WRONG DIRECTION

Judge—How far was the man from you when you first saw him?

Chauffeur—Ten rods.

Judge—And you couldn't stop?

Chauffeur—I had stopped. He was ten rods behind.—Boston Globe.

DISHEARTENED

"Was there much money spent in the election?"

"Don't ask me," replied the disappointed politician. "If there was any money being passed around I didn't see it. Believe me or not, but I'll be lucky if I get a new silk hat and a Prince Albert coat."

SHE WOULD NOT CALL NAMES

The county superintendent of schools, Miss Whitehead (whose hair was almost white), was paying a visit to a country school. At the close of the school, when the children went trooping out, each one said, "Goodbye, Miss Whitehead!" But one little girl with red hair said nothing and hung her head. As she was about to pass Miss Whitehead put out her hand and said:

"Nellie, are you not going to say goodbye to me, as the others have?"

"No, I'm not," answered Nellie. "I know what it is to be called 'Miss Redhead' and I'm just ashamed of the others."—Youth's Companion.

THE KNOTTY FOOD PROBLEM

Leave it to the bewhiskered old boys of science, they of the square spectacles and ear muffs, and this world will be pulled through its rather precarious existence. Some time ago somebody who needed the money wrote an alarmist article for a magazine, stating that in a very short time, in fact, within 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 years, the earth's food supply would be entirely exhausted.

This set all the scientists going like gyroscopes, and in the dizzy whirl of investigation some very interesting things came to light. It was up to the scientists to find something for the people to eat 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 years hence. It was not wholly a new problem. Scientists long ago evolved the scheme of sawing up timber into breakfast food and said that a man could go forth with a bucksaw and get enough sawdust out of a fence rail to keep himself and his family supplied for some time.

One learned scientist thinks that he has solved the problem for all time. He says that the nut trees could in a pinch supply food for the entire world.

This knotty question has become a nutty question and one which he has apparently solved. Those who are on earth now should be of good cheer. They will not have to starve 8,000,000 years hence.—Topeka State Journal.

TOLSTOY'S THOUGHTS ON DEATH

The fear of death is unnatural. The fear of death is the consciousness of sin.

The fear of death emanates from the fact that what people regard as life is only a small part of it, limited by their own erroneous conception.

Just as the owner of the fig tree knows the time when the fruit is ripe, so God knows when to call the righteous from this world.

Strive to keep your life at a point where you neither fear death nor desire it.—Tolstoy's "Cycle of Readings."

TEXT OF A GOOD BOOK

That is a good book which is opened with expectation and closed with profit, wrote Bronson Alcott. It is a wise book that is good from title page to the end. One masterpiece, fairly mastered, prepares the reader to master the great pieces of literature. The encyclopedia of details may be left for less occupied and thoughtful moments.

A SERIOUS SONNET ON BEEFSTEAK

Some hymn the odors of the languid rose,
Some sing the fragrance of fresh ocean air,
And mountain poets often do declare
That in their pines the sweetest scents repose;
But best of all is the perfume that goes
Afloating down the wind. Ye gods I swear
Ambrosial odors can't with this compare!
See how the weary toiler lifts his nose!
How his soul shines out through his hungry tears!
When, as a beacon lures on roaring nights,
The meat's supernal odor gently cheers
His soul into a harbor of delights.
Oh, poets, sing the praises of beefsteak!
If more men had it fewer hearts would ache!

—James Stevens.

COLORED SAINTS

Two colored troopers in Chihuahua called upon the chaplain.

"Look here, Mr. Chaplain, we wants you for to settle an argument," said one of them. "Dis here man says lots of saints were colored folks. Would you please tell me how many of dem 'postles were niggers."

"None of them was a darky," said the chaplain.

"Well, sir, that settles it. Dis man wanted me to believe that St. Peter was a nigger, and I just told him: 'No, sar, St. Peter was no nigger, 'cause I heard you say about St. Peter and dat rooster crowin' twice. If St. Peter was a nigger I jest know dat rooster would never have a chance to crow a second time; no sah'."

ONE THING LACKING

The family was going on an outin the woods and mother was packing the lunch basket.

"Let me see," she murmured, "I've got lettuce sandwiches, olive sandwiches, peanut butter sandwiches, macaroons, pickles, ginger snaps and chow chow. I wonder if I've forgotten anything."

"How about putting in something to eat?" said father sarcastically.

New Teacher—Who can tell me a thing of importance that did not exist a hundred years ago?

Little Boy—Me.

"There are some ugly features in every business."

"Well, I'll bet photography holds the record for 'em."—Baltimore American.

NATIONAL BABY WEEK

The second National Baby Week will be celebrated in the United States May 1 to 6, inclusive. A majority of the incorporated communities in the country will take part in it.

Please don't get the wrong idea of Baby Week. It is not a sentimental outburst. It is a serious movement to popularize certain proved principles of baby care and community responsibility for baby welfare.

The keynote of a Baby Week campaign is co-operation. This was true of the 1916 celebration and the inquiries pouring in at the Children's Bureau today and the local plans already under way indicate that the co-operation is even more universal in this year's campaign.

Of course the 2,500,000 members of the General Federation of Women's clubs are co-operating. The General Federation and the Children's Bureau were jointly responsible for the first suggestion for a nation-wide Baby Week.

The way chambers of commerce and other men's organizations of various kinds and national associations devoted to one or another special problem, turn in and help is surprising.

Most impressive is the work of state health officials and of extension divisions of state universities and agricultural colleges. These work with state federations of women's clubs and with each other in outlining special programs adapted to the conditions of the individual state and they help local celebrations in numberless ways with lectures, exhibit material, bulletins and personal advice.

Each of these agencies is equipped to make its own contribution to the campaign: The child welfare committees which are being organized in women's clubs of every type, the special committees studying local birth registration, the associations doing infant wesfare work, the pubsic health officials of city and state, the state universities through their extension work, and civic organizations of various kinds.

Our correspondence indicates that they all recognize in Baby Week a unique opportunity.

TRAGEDY OF LOVE

Much has been truthfully written of the attachment dogs commonly show their masters or children who make playmates of them.

And that this attraction often is returned in kind is shown by the recent suicide of a fourteen-year-old boy in Lynn, Mass., who intentionally swallowed a poison capsule designed for a pet dog suspected of being a carrier of typhoid germs, and so responsible for the illness of the lad's mother.

The little fellow left this written message:

"Don't kill Big Puppy. I died in his place."

Life has many such little tragedies which go far to vindicate humanity from the cynical charge of absolute selfishness.—Sacramento Bee.

CONTENTMENT

This fair tree that shadows us from the sun hath grown many years in its place without more unhappiness than the loss of its leaves in winter, which the succeeding season doth generously repair, and shall we be less contented in the place where God has planted us? Or shall there go less time to the making of a man than to the growth of a tree? This stream floweth dimpling and laughing down to the great sea which it knoweth not, yet it does not fret because the future is hidden; and it were doubtless wise in us to accept the mysteries of life as cheerfully and go forward with a merry heart, considering that we know enough to make us happy and keep us honest for today. A man should be well content if he can see so far ahead of him as the next bend in the stream. What lies beyond iet him trust in the hand of God.—Henry Van Dyke.

Every stone in the edifice of your character was laid by your own hands.

To the stupid people only and the unobservant does life ever cease to be interesting and dramatic.

It is better to try to do something and fail than to try to do nothing and succeed.

The people who indulge in honeyed phrases seldom have any fear of eating their own words.
